Literature:

Reconnue pour son univers coloré et riche en symboles, l'artiste Kittie Bruneau est une peintre et graveuse dont les œuvres se retrouvent dans les plus grands musées québécois et canadiens. Souvent associé à la tendance post-automatiste, son travail a été présenté dans une soixantaine d'expositions. Dans l'œuvre intitulée Duo, des personnages et des bêtes imaginaires se rencontrent au sein d'une composition libre, qui semble tenir du rêve. On y reconnaît le langage visuel poétique de l'artiste et sa gestuelle énergique.

Known for her colourful and highly symbolic universe, the artist Kittie Bruneau is a painter and printmaker whose works can be found in major museums in Québec and Canada. Often associated with post-automatism, her work has been included in around sixty exhibitions.

In the piece entitled Duo, imaginary characters and creatures meet within a liberated and dream-like composition. Here, we recognize the artist's poetic visual language and her energetic gestural approach. Provenance: Private Collection

Exhibited:

Literature:

Considéré comme l'un des plus importants peintres de sa génération, Jacques Hurtubise a contribué de façon exceptionnelle au développement de l'art abstrait au Québec à partir des années 1960 et jusqu'à son décès en 2014.

L'œuvre Takota appartient à sa période de création de la fin des années 1970, qui est caractérisée par de forts contrastes chromatiques et par l'utilisation de motifs linéaires. Entre impulsion créatrice et contrôle minutieux de la forme, cette œuvre étonnante est basée sur la brutalité du contraste entre le noir et le blanc.

Considered one of the most important painters of his generation, Jacques Hurtubise has made an exceptional contribution to the development of abstract art in Quebec from the 1960s, until his passing in 2014.

Takota belongs to Hurtubise's creative period of the late 1970s, which was characterized by strong chromatic contrasts and the use of linear patterns. Between impulsive creativity and meticulous control of shape, this astonishing work is based on the brutal contrast of black and white.

Pionnier de l'abstraction géométrique au Québec, Jean-Paul Jérôme est cofondateur du mouvement historique des Plasticiens aux côtés de Jauran (Rodolphe de Repentigny), Louis Belzile et Fernand Toupin. En 2019-2020, le Musée d'art contemporain de Baie-Saint-Paul a organisé une importante rétrospective sur le travail de l'artiste, en revenant sur 50 années d'expérimentations formelles.

Peinte en 1995, Village des monts est une œuvre de maturité. Sa composition géométrique en aplat de couleurs vives est représentative de l'intégration et l'achèvement des principes esthétiques du groupe des Plasticiens.

One of Québec's pioneers of geometric abstraction, Jean-Paul Jérôme was the cofounder of the historical Plasticiens movement with Jauran (Rodolphe de Repentigny), Louis Belzile and Fernand Toupin. Literature: Dialogues formels - Coups de coeurs de grands collectionneurs, Musée d'art contemporain de Baie Saint-Paul, 2014, reproduced page 27

Please note: this work is unframed.

Présentée en 2014 dans l'exposition Dialogues formels du Musée d'art contemporain de Baie-Saint-Paul, cette œuvre constitue un vibrant hommage au peintre français Claude Viallat. Comme l'expliquait Serge Lemoyne, « L'année 1983 en sera une autre de transition avec la série à la manière de..., où je rendais hommage à certains artistes qui m'avaient influencé. J'ai fabriqué des tableaux à partir d'un Borduas, d'un Viallat, d'un Noland ou d'un Jasper Johns. »

Cherchant à démocratiser l'art et à se rapprocher du public, Lemoyne crée de la peinture en direct et participe à des événements d'art engagé dans les années 1960. Sa période Bleu Blanc Rouge, qui fait référence à l'équipe de hockey les Canadiens de Montréal, est sa période la plus connue.

Showed in the 2014 exhibition Dialogues formels at the Musée d'art contemporain de Baie-Saint-Paul, this work is a vibrant homage to French painter Claude Viallat. Serge Lemoyne explained, "The year 1983 is one of transition with the series à la manière de... where I would honour certain artists I was influenced by. I created paintings based on works by Borduas, Viallat, Noland or Jasper Johns."

Seeking to democratize art and get closer to his public, Lemoyne did live painting "happenings" and participated in various artistic events during the 1960s. His Bleu Blanc Rouge series, which refers to the Canadians Montreal hockey team, is his most famous period.

oil on board

signed and on verso titled and inscribed "4"

26 7/8 x 34 1/2 inches 68.3 x 87.6 centimeters

Provenance: Private Collection

Exhibited:

Literature:

Originaire de Suisse, René Richard est un peintre canadien reconnu pour son travail sur la nordicité et les grands espaces. Après avoir travaillé comme trappeur pendant plusieurs années, il part étudier à la Grande Chaumière à Paris et rencontre le peintre Clarence Gagnon, qui exercera une influence importante sur son œuvre.

Marquée par une grande spontanéité, l'œuvre Terres dénudées est représentative de la gestuelle expressionniste et de la palette lumineuse qui ont valu à René Richard une grande reconnaissance. Établit à Baie-Saint-Paul en 1942, ce peintre est particulièrement important pour la région de Charlevoix. Originally from Switzerland, René Richard is a Canadian painter recognized for his work on nordicity and the great outdoors. Following several years working as a trapper, he studied at the Grande Chaumière in Paris and met painter Clarence Gagnon, who greatly influenced his oeuvre.

Marked by great spontaneity, Terres dénudées is representative of the expressionist gesture and the luminous palette which earned René Richard great recognition. Settling in Baie-Saint-Paul in 1942, this painter is particularly important for the Charlevoix region.

HENRY SAXE

1937 - Canadian

La Bolduc

acrylic on aluminium

signed and on verso signed and titled

23 5/8 x 23 5/8 inches 60 x 60 centimeters

Provenance: Private Collection

Exhibited: Musée d'art contemporain de Baie Saint-Paul, Henry Saxe, November 23, 2019 - November 8, 2020 (this work had been part of the earlier portion of the exhibition)

Literature:

Henry Saxe a repoussé les limites de la toile traditionnelle afin de proposer une œuvre qui se situe à mi-chemin entre le tableau et la sculpture. Ouverte, l'œuvre est composée de petites surfaces brisées qui réfléchissent la lumière. L'artiste a ensuite peint de larges traits de couleur rouge directement sur la plaque d'aluminium travaillée.

À partir des années 1960, l'artiste Henry Saxe s'est démarqué par la réalisation de sculptures prenant appui directement au sol et dont la configuration pouvait être adaptée selon l'espace d'exposition. Saxe s'est également intéressé aux nouveaux modes de productions industriels en s'engageant dans une production dominée par le travail du métal, son matériau de prédilection.

Henry Saxe pushed the limits of the traditional canvas in order to propose a work that is halfway between painting and sculpture. The work is open and made of small broken surfaces that reflect light. The artist then painted broad strokes of red directly on the toiled aluminum plate.

From the 1960s, Saxe distinguished himself by producing sculptures that rest directly on the ground and whose configuration could be adapted to the exhibition space. He was also interested in new industrial manufacturing methods, leading him to engage in a production dominated by metalwork, his preferred material.

Literature:

En 1955, Fernand Toupin cosigne le Manifeste des Plasticiens avec Jauran (Rodolphe de Repentigny), Jean-Paul Jérôme et Louis Belzile. Il se fait d'abord connaitre pour ses œuvres issues de l'abstraction géométrique. Ses « shaped canvases », des tableaux aux formes irrégulières, représentent une contribution importante au mouvement des Plasticiens.

À la fin des années 1950, le travail de Toupin prend une nouvelle direction. L'artiste intègre une riche texture à ses tableaux en mélangeant des pigments à de la poussière de marbre. La matière abondante, qui semble jaillir de la toile, lui permet d'exprimer le paysage québécois.
